Dragon Ball Z: Buu's Fury is the third game in the Legend of Goku trilogy for the Game Boy Advance. In addition to dozens of collectibles, DBZ: Buu's Fury has cheats and glitches that make it easier to earn the title of Eternal Dragon. When you perform the Fusion Dance with Goku/Vegeta or Goten/Trunks, ignore the button prompts and enter the following to always get a perfect fusion: Up, B, Left, Down, A. Toei Animation / Nintendo There's a glitch you can exploit to temporarily duplicate equipment: Equip Goku and Goten or Vegeta and Trunks with the items you wish to duplicate. Perform the Fusion Dance to create Gogeta or Gotenks. Remove the equipment from Gogeta/Gotenks and give it to another character. Gogeta/Gotenks will keep the equipment, so you'll have two sets until the fusion timer runs out. There's a glitch that gives you 255 Senzu Beans. When Gohan asks Goku to bring him a Senzu Bean during the World Tournament Saga: Fly to Korin's Tower. Retrieve the bean from Yajirobe, then eat it. Go back and talk to Gohan. Check your inventory to find a stash of 255 Senzu beans. There's a store on the Kai's planet that sells powerful armor and items to help you level up. To find it, visit the Kai's planet after defeating Buu, then go to the right-most map and breakthrough a crack in the wall. These unlockables will appear at the Hercule Cafe in Hercule City after you collect them. Unlockable How to Unlock Air Hercule Shoes Run around the Orange Star High School track three times in less than 15 seconds. Boxing Gloves Search behind a tree with blue fruit in the forest. Gohan's Training Sword Find in the toy box at Goku's house. Goku's Power Pole Use instant transmission to open the chest in the upper-right corner of where Babadi's ship was. Grand Kai's Boombbox Speak to Grand Kai after beating Kid Buu. King Kai's Hammer Talk to Bubbles in the Cave of the Ancients on the Kai's planet after defeating Kid Buu. King Yemma's Mug Open the level 145 door with Goten in Pila's Castle, and then defeat the enemies where you found the Dragon Ball. Korin's Cane Give Korin red snapper fishes. Mr. Popo's Turban Find the invisible chest between the four trees near Kami's Lookout. Ox King's Helment Talk to Ox King in Goku's house after beating the game. The Bansho Fan Break the rocks behind the level 140 Gohan door in the forest by Goku's house. Yajirobe's Sword Walk around Yajirobe counter-clockwise three times, then go to the Southwest forest. Yamcha's Bat Destroy the boulder south of the Save Circle in Diablo Desert. If one of your weaker characters needs some extra experience, lure an enemy near a save point as a stronger character. Stand on the save point and defeat the enemy, then immediately switch to the weaker character so they earn the experience points. Equipping weights on your hands and feet will grant you extra experience from battle at the expense of your speed. Once you get to the end of the game, the best spot for leveling is the airship after you beat Majin Buu. Here, you can encounter the Shadow Colossus, which drops a large amount of experience points. Purchase the Kiloton Armbands and Kiloton Boots from the shop on Planet Kai to maximize your gains. You can also fight the Shadow Colossus in the Barren Wastelands after beating Kid Buu. To unlock Gogeta as a playable character, collect every Z-Fighter Exhibit and Hercule Exhibit. There is a glitch that allows you to fly around as Super Saiyan on the world map: Enter Kami's tower and go down the staircase to the right. Go through the center door to get to the room where Goten and Trunks wake up after you fuse Gotenks for the first time. Transform into Super Saiyan, then approach the window and press A. You will remain Super Saiyan indefinitely. This trick can cause other game-breaking glitches, so save your progress before attempting. Wear a bandana to enter the Thieves' Den. You can get one by fighting enemies on the airship. When you beat Buu in Chapter 11, a portal will open in Kami's Lookout that will let you go back to previous areas. After beating the game, go to Southwest Forest and take the path that leads to the level 120 Vegeta Door. The Majin Fighters that come out of the door will randomly drop the Z Suit, so fight them until you get it. Continue down the path to find the Armor Of Darkness in a chest. After the end credits, you'll receive a rank based on your character's levels. Get every character to level 200 to earn the highest rank, Eternal Dragon. Exposure to the source of the fear triggers an immediate anxiety response. Phobias are one of the most common mental illnesses in the United States. According to the National Institute of Mental Health (NIMH), approximately 12.5% of adults in the U.S. will deal with a specific phobia in their lifetime. Women are more likely to experience phobias than men. Typical symptoms of phobias can include nausea, trembling, rapid heartbeat, feelings of unreality, and being preoccupied with the fear object. The American Psychiatric Association (APA) identifies three different categories of phobias: Social phobias: Now known as social anxiety disorder, this phobia is marked by a fear of social situations in which a person might be judged or embarrassed. Agoraphobia: This phobia involves an irrational and extreme fear of being in places where escape is difficult. It may involve a fear of crowded places or even of leaving one's home. Specific phobias: When people talk about having a phobia of a specific object such as snakes, spiders, or needles, they are referring to a specific phobia. Verywell / JR Bee While not comprehensive, this list of phobias offers a glimpse of the many phobias that can have a serious impact on a person's life. As you may notice while you browse through this list, most specific phobias fall into one of four major categories: Fears of the natural environmentFears related to animalsFear related to medical treatments or issuesFears related to specific situations One important thing to remember is that virtually any object can become a fear object. The names of specific phobias are often formed as nonce words, or words coined for a single occasion only. These names themselves are often formed by taking a Greek prefix that represents the fear object and adding the -phobia suffix. Because of this, any attempt at a completely exhaustive list of phobias would be a futile exercise. Any list of phobias could grow with the addition of newly coined terms for previously unnamed specific phobias. This article lists some of the most common phobias. It also covers some of the treatment options that are available. This video has been medically reviewed by Daniel B. Block, MD. Ablutophobia: Fear of bathing Achluphobia: Fear of darkness Acrophobia: Fear of heights Aerophobia: Fear of flying Algophobia: Fear of pain Agoraphobia: Fear of open spaces or crowds Aichmophobia: Fear of needles or pointed objects Amaxophobia: Fear of riding in a car Androphobia: Fear of men Anemophobia: Fear of air Anginophobia: Fear of angina or choking Angrophobia: Fear of anger Anthrophobia: Fear of flowers Anthrophobia: Fear of people or society Aphenphosmobia: Fear of being touched Arachnutyrophobia: Fear of peanut butter Arachnophobia: Fear of spiders Arithmophobia: Fear of numbers Astrophobia: Fear of thunder and lightning Astrophobia: Fear of outer space Ataxophobia: Fear of disorder or untidiness Atelophobia: Fear of imperfection Atychiphobia: Fear of failure Automatonophobia: Fear of human-like figures Autophobia: Fear of being alone Bacteriophobia: Fear of bacteriaBarophobia: Fear of gravityBathmophobia: Fear of stairs or steep slopesBatrachophobia: Fear of amphibiansBelonephobia: Fear of pins and needlesBibliophobia: Fear of booksBotanophobia: Fear of plants Cacophobia: Fear of ugliness Catagelophobia: Fear of being ridiculed Catoptrophobia: Fear of mirrors Chionophobia: Fear of snow Chrometophobia: Fear of spending money Chromophobia: Fear of colors Chronometophobia: Fear of clocks Chronophobia: Fear of time Cibophobia: Fear of food Claustrophobia: Fear of confined spaces Climacophobia: Fear of climbing Coulrophobia: Fear of clowns Cyberphobia: Fear of computers Cynophobia: Fear of dogs Ecophobia: Fear of the home Elurophobia: Fear of cats Emetophobia: Fear of vomiting Entomophobia: Fear of insects Ephebiphobia: Fear of teenagers Ertophobia: Fear of sex Equinophobia: Fear of horses Iatrophobia: Fear of doctorsInsectophobia: Fear of insects Koionophobia: Fear of rooms Koumpounophobia: Fear of buttons Leukophobia: Fear of the color white Lilasophobia: Fear of tornadoes and hurricanes Lockiophobia: Fear of childbirth Mageirocophobia: Fear of cookingMegalophobia: Fear of large thingsMelanophobia: Fear of the color blackMicrophobia: Fear of small thingsMysophobia: Fear of dirt and germs Necrophobia: Fear of death or dead things Noctiphobia: Fear of the night Nomophobia: Fear of being without your mobile phone Nosocomophobia: Fear of hospitals Nyctophobia: Fear of the dark Papyrophobia: Fear of paper Pathophobia: Fear of disease Pedophobia: Fear of children Philematophobia: Fear of kissing Philophobia: Fear of love Phobophobia: Fear of phobias Podophobia: Fear of feet Porphyrophobia: Fear of the color purple Pteridophobia: Fear of ferns Pteromerhanophobia: Fear of flying Pyrophobia: Fear of fire Samhainophobia: Fear of Halloween Scolionophobia: Fear of school Scotophobia: Fear of being stared at Selenophobia: Fear of the moon Sociophobia: Fear of social evaluation Somniphobia: Fear of sleep Venustrophobia: Fear of beautiful women Verminophobia: Fear of germs Wiccaphobia: Fear of witches and witchcraft Xenophobia: Fear of strangers or foreigners Zoophobia: Fear of animals Zuigerphobia: Fear of vacuum cleaners While listing all of the phobias that may exist is not possible, it can be helpful to look through a list of some of the more commonly described phobias. As you can see by looking at this list, almost any object or situation can become the source of fear. Phobias lead to physical, emotional, and behavioral symptoms. Common symptoms include: Chest tightness or painChills or hot flashesChoking sensationsConfusionDifficulty breathingDizzinessDry mouthIncreased blood pressureNauseaRacing heartbeatShaking or tremblingSweating In addition to these physical symptoms, people may experience dread, a sense of impending doom, fear of losing control, or even the feeling that death is imminent. To avoid such feelings, people with phobias may avoid any situation where they might potentially encounter the source of their fear. The exact causes of phobias are not known, but it is likely that a combination of factors plays a part. Some factors that increase the risk of developing a phobia include: Genetics: People with a close family member with a phobia or another anxiety disorder also have a greater risk of a phobia. It is important to note, however, that people who don't have family members with the condition still develop phobias.Traumatic experiences: A difficult, stressful, or traumatic experience can also trigger the onset of a phobia. For example, being bitten by a dog as a child might trigger a fear of dogs in adulthood. Some phobias are more common, while others are often quite rare. A few of the most common phobias include arachnophobia (the fear of spiders), ophidiophobia (the fear of snakes), and glossophobia (the fear of public speaking). The fear of public speaking is so common that some researchers have estimated that as much as 77% of people have experienced that as much as 77% of people have some level of this fear. Rare phobias may be novel terms coined to identify a single, unique case. A few of the more uncommon specific phobias include spectrophobia (the fear of mirrors), chiclephobia (the fear of chewing gum), and hippopotomonstrosesquipedaliophobia (the fear of long words). While phobias can be distressing and create disruptions in your life, they are treatable. Some of the different treatment options include therapy and medication. Exposure-based treatments are the first-line approach in the treatment of phobias. In this type of treatment, you are gradually and progressively exposed to what you fear. You might start by just thinking about your phobia trigger and then move slowly toward looking at images of the object and finally being near the object in real life. Types of exposure-based treatments that may be used include: In vivo exposure: This involves being exposed to the source of your fear in real life.Virtual exposure: This involves the use of virtual reality to practice gradual exposure.Systematic desensitization: This involves being gradually exposed until you become desensitized to the source of your fear. During this process, you'll also practice relaxation techniques to help calm your body when your fear response kicks in. Often referred to as CBT, cognitive behavioral therapy involves learning to identify the underlying negative thoughts that contribute to feelings of fear. Once you become better at noticing these thoughts, you can then work on replacing them with more positive, helpful thoughts. Eye movement desensitization and reproprocessing (EMDR) therapy utilizes rhythmic eye movements to help people process and recover from traumatic experiences. It is frequently used in the treatment of post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD), but can also be effective in the treatment of a variety of other mental health conditions including phobias. Medications may be prescribed in some cases to help manage some of the symptoms you might be experiencing as a result of your phobia. Medications your doctor might prescribe include selective serotonin reuptake inhibitors (SSRIs), beta-blockers, and anti-anxiety drugs. Phobias can have a serious impact on well-being, but it is important to remember that you are not alone. Phobias are common and treatable. If you believe that you have the symptoms of some type of phobia, consult a doctor for further evaluation and treatment advice.
