Originally intended as an update, this role-playing game will offer a brand new experience for players. In it, you will collect and enhance your chibi characters to fight the battles. There is also an option to explore different events. Of course, there is still a studio where you can customize your club members and create scenes. Welcome to the clubAs mentioned, Gacha Club is intended, at first, to be an update to Gacha Life. Hence, players will see some similarities in the gameplay. In Gacha Life, you will have eight main character slots and 12 extra slots. In Gacha Club, meanwhile, there will be ten main characters and 90 extra slots. There will be 11 hand gestures that are not available in Gacha Life. The game will also allow the player to gacha for characters and pets, instead of gifts. Unlike the original life game, they can also do 40 gacha roll at once. Gacha Club is packed with battles, mini-games, and customization functions. The game has four battle modes, a story mode, training mode, element tower mode, and shadows corruption mode. Players can play these modes to earn coins and gems, which then can be used to get the units, pets, and other things. You can also take a shot in playing the mini-games to earn the currency called Byte. Other than the battles and mini-games, players can also use the studio to create scenes. You can import and export your characters once you reach level ten. In addition to new stuff, Gacha Club also boasts a good graphic design. However, players will note that some of the old props—smoke clouds, cite food props—are missing. There is also no option to randomize the colors and the names of your characters. Moreover, there is also limited choices for hair and clothes. For gacha fansOverall, Gacha Club is an improvement to the Gacha Life. In this game, players will not only play dress up but can also battle other players. There are more character slots, and there are more ways to increase your stats. More, there are more scenes that you can save and load. If you love the original life game, then this game will give you a more exciting experience. Gacha Club is a peculiar Japanese role-playing and combat game, like so many that emanate from those shores, in which we will be able to create a team of heroes with hundreds of customization combinations. We will be able to choose from thousands of outfits, hairstyles, weapons, and much more, in order to give our personal touch to the game's range of characters, all of whom feature a rather comical and casual aesthetic. There are almost 200 characters and different game modes. An important element of all this is to create our team of heroes, while not forgetting to unleash automatic battles, where we will be spectators and victory will depend on our heroes' skills and powers. And also, of course, on how these are spread out among them. Main features The game offers us the following key options and functions: Customize main and secondary characters. Change the color of any item. Enjoy more than 600 different combinations. Pick and personalize pets and objects. Import and export your friends' characters. Four different game modes. Have fun with a range of mini-games.
